Welcome to Quarantine Trivia VIII!

Regarding last week's beignet vs. zeppole discussion, we are always willing to acknowledge our mistakes. We realize now that, context being everything, our question should have included a typical presentation of the pastry in question.

Beignets are typically presented in this fashion:

Question

Potooooooooo was a famous 18th century racehorse who won 30 races and defeated many of the best horses of his day. His name has the same pronunciation as a common English word. How is his name pronounced?

Answer

Potatoes
(Pot-8-Os)

Born in 1793, Potatooooooooo was a thoroughbred racehorse that won 34 races over seven years.

The famous horse's nickname was "Potatoes," but a stableboy misunderstood the name and "put eight O's" on the horse's feeding bin. The horse's owner was so amused that the horse was thereafter called Potatooooooooo or Pot-8-Os.

Question

In what year were the first Nobel prizes awarded (within five years either way)?

Answer

1901 (give yourself a point if you picked a year between 1896 and 1906)

Sweden awards first Nobel Prizes

Alfred Nobel

Dec 10, The King of Sweden and the Norwegian Nobel Committee distributed the first Nobel Prizes today. These awards, according to Alfred Nobel's will, "should be annually made to those who, during the preceding year, shall have conferred the greatest benefit on mankind" in the specialized fields of physics, chemistry, medicine, literature and peace.

This year's Nobel laureates are: Wilhelm Roentgen of Germany (physics) for his discovery of X-rays; Jacobus Henricus van't Hoff of the Netherlands (chemistry) for his laws of chemical dynamics and osmotic pressure; Emil von Behring of Germany (medicine) for his work on serum therapy; and Sully Prudhomme of France (literature) for his poetry. The 1901 Nobel Peace Prize was awarded to both Jean Henri Dunant of Switzerland, who established the Red Cross in 1864, and the economist Frederic Passy, who founded the French Society of the Friends of Peace.

From this day forward, the prizes will be awarded by four institutions, three Swedish and one Norwegian, from a fund established under the will of Alfred Nobel. The ceremonial presentation of the prizes is to take place every year in Stockholm, Sweden, and Oslo, Norway, on December 10, the anniversary of Nobel's death.

In 1867, Nobel, a Swedish chemist, invented dynamite and later discovered many other explosive substances. As a result, he earned a fortune, which he left to a foundation when he died in 1896. The annual interest yielded by his wealth will finance the five Nobel Prizes. The Nobel Foundation is the legal owner and functional administrator of the funds, but it is not concerned with the prize deliberations, which rest exclusively with the Swedish and Norwegian institutions.
